We are looking for composers who are:

- curious to experiment with new and different ways to engage digitally with an audience
- motivated and confident to explore new ways to fund their creativity through building a community of patrons
- able to commit to a regular timetable/pattern of communication with patrons (minimum once per quarter)

Criteria

Outlined below are the criteria describing the requirements and mindset which we feel best equip a composer to be successful on the Music Patron platform:

1. Fluent and enthusiastic communication
2. Proven digital engagement
3. Track record / Evidence of success as a composer
4. Motivation to help shape the future for new music for all composers
5. Pledged support from at least 1 Patron Champion

1. Fluent and enthusiastic communication

Communication between composers and patrons is one of the most important aspects of Music Patron.

You must be:

- Enthusiastic about sharing aspects of yourself and/or your creative practice with patrons
- Able to commit to a regular timetable/pattern of communication with patrons (minimum once per quarter)
- Confident to communicate using a range of digital tools and formats such as videos, audio recordings, interactive blogs and virtual hangouts

You will be asked to:

- Create an example digital update to patrons. This can be in any format e.g. written, audio or video.

2. Proven digital engagement

Music Patron is a primarily digital platform.

You must be:

- Able to demonstrate how you engage digitally with your current audience such as on social media platforms, regular emails/newsletters, crowdfunding events, or video, sales and promotion platforms

- Curious to explore and experiment with new and different ways to interact with and increase your patrons on Music Patron

You will be asked to:

- Tell us how you communicate with your existing audience

3. Track record / Evidence of success as a composer

Music Patron is a curated platform. Composers of any age or point in their career may apply but must be able to evidence a demonstrable degree of success in their field.

Exactly what that success looks like will be very different depending on many factors.

You will be asked to:

- Tell us about your career as a composer
- Share examples of your music

This may include:

- Commissions
- Performances
- Recordings
- Awards
- Education / Community Engagement work
- Strong audience following
- Peer and/or organisational endorsements
- Any other examples of where your work has had an impact

4. Motivation to help shape the future for new music for all composers

Music Patron is a new project treading new ground. Our vision is that a regular, dependable, unrestricted income stream from a community of supportive patrons will be a game-changer for composers.

One of the primary goals of Music Patron is to free up time for composers to compose, whereas many current sources of income/funding for composers do the opposite.

We are looking for composers who want to help us improve the financial ecosystem for all composers and the landscape of new music more generally with a fresh approach to building an audience, and funding creativity.

You will be asked to:

- Explain how documenting and communicating aspects of your creative practice would be of value to you, and to your audience
- Reflect on why this is the right time for you to join Music Patron
- Illustrate what impact a regular dependable unrestricted income would have on your career as a composer
- Consider how you would stay motivated to create content and build your patron community

5. Pledged support from at least 1 Patron Champion.

Patron Champions are backers who pledge to support you on Music Patron with a monthly donation for at least 12 months. The current minimum monthly donation is £10 (£120 per year).

Before joining Music Patron we ask that you secure the backing of at least 1 Patron Champion from your existing networks.

We don't expect composers to find Patron Champions at the application stage. Shortlisted composers will be given support and advice in how to approach this.

Why we ask for this

Joining Music Patron with patrons already on board means that you benefit immediately both from a regular dependable income stream and a supportive, encouraging audience to interact with.

Composer-patron relationships can take time to develop, and asking people to fund you and your creative practice can be complex.

Successfully engaging your existing audience to back you financially is a productive step towards being able to build a broad community of patrons.
